

Real time sousveillance

Citizens' live broadcasting of conflicts in public space

Lucas Melgaço
Vrije Universiteit Brussel

3 surveillance tenses

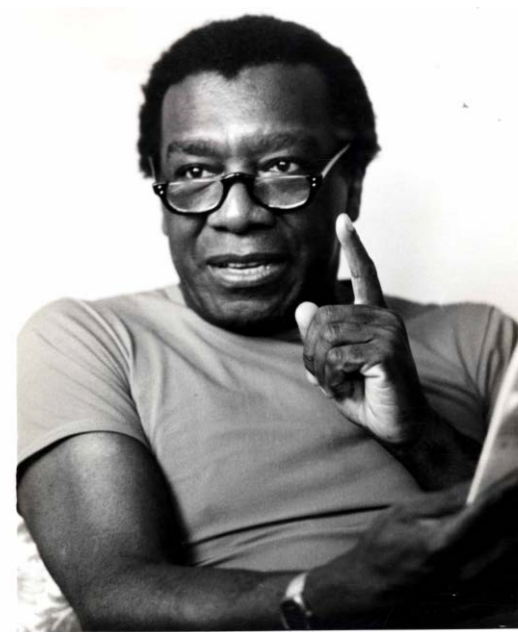

past = investigation

present = detection/real-time intervention

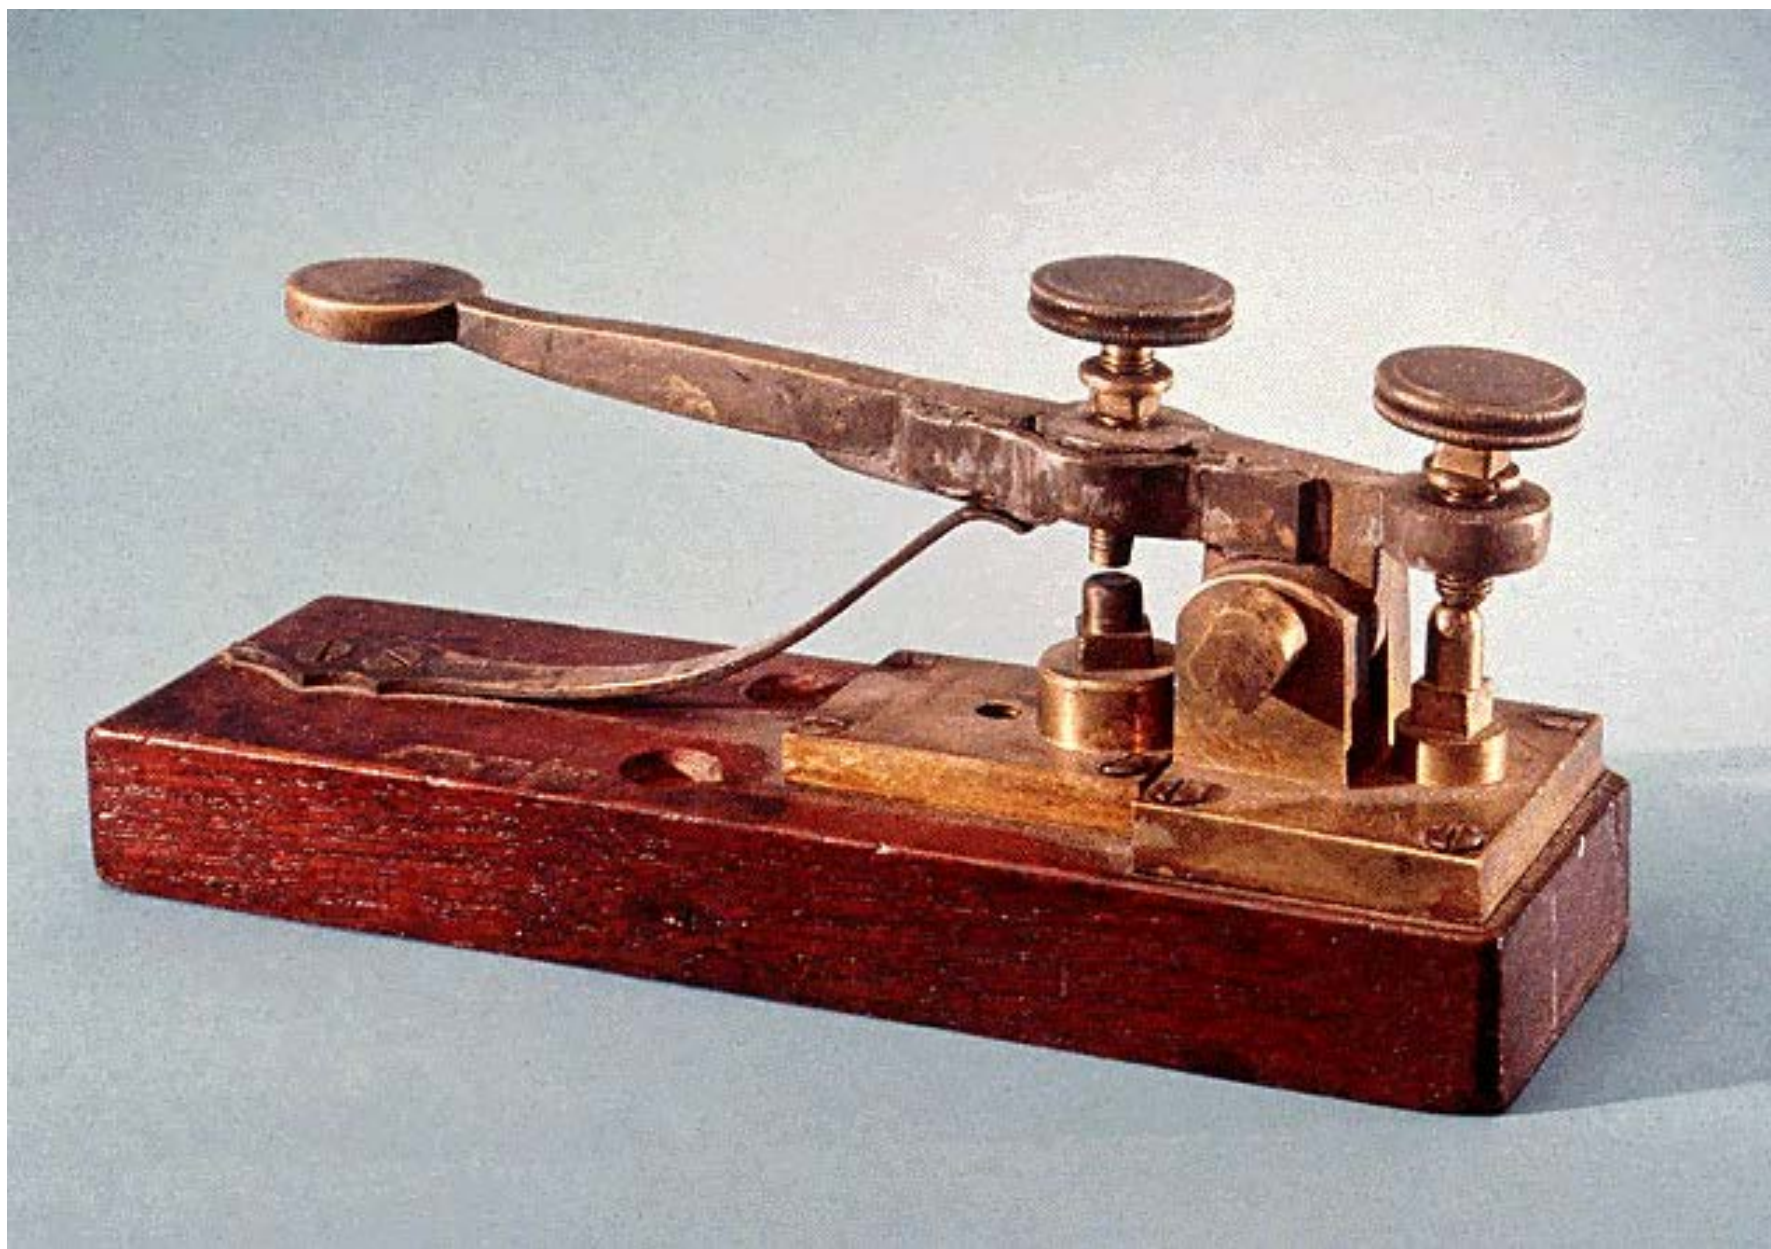

future = deterrence

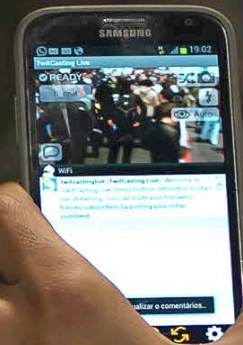

Convergence of moments (Milton Santos)

Which was the most groundbreaking form of ICT in regard to simultaneity/real-time communication?

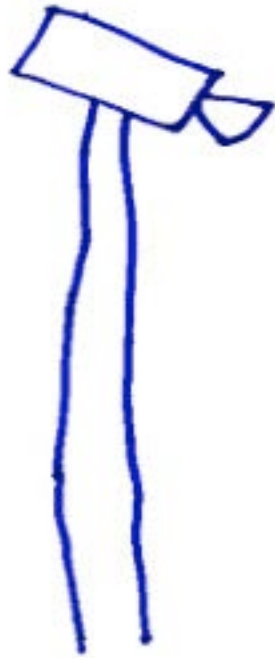

From web 1.0 to web 2.0

On October 15, 2015, in Brussels, Belgium, Thomas Michel, cameraman for the alternative media collective ZinTV was stopped by the police when filming a protest against the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership (TTIP).

The police, in an illegal action, forced Michel to delete all pictures and videos he had taken with his camera.

Live streaming: sousveillance? synopticon?
crowd-sourcing surveillance?

Surveillance

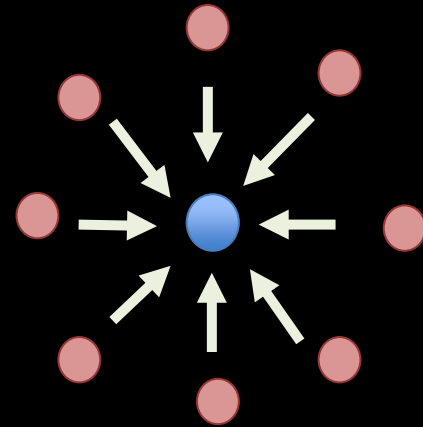

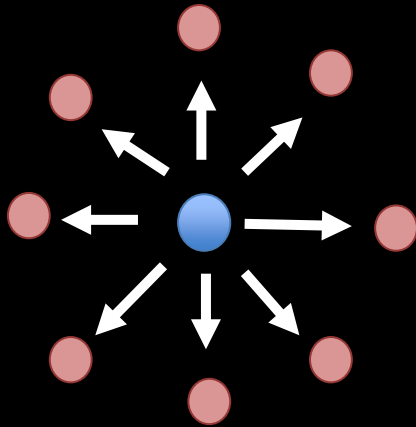

Sousveillance

Surveillance

Panopticon

Synopticon

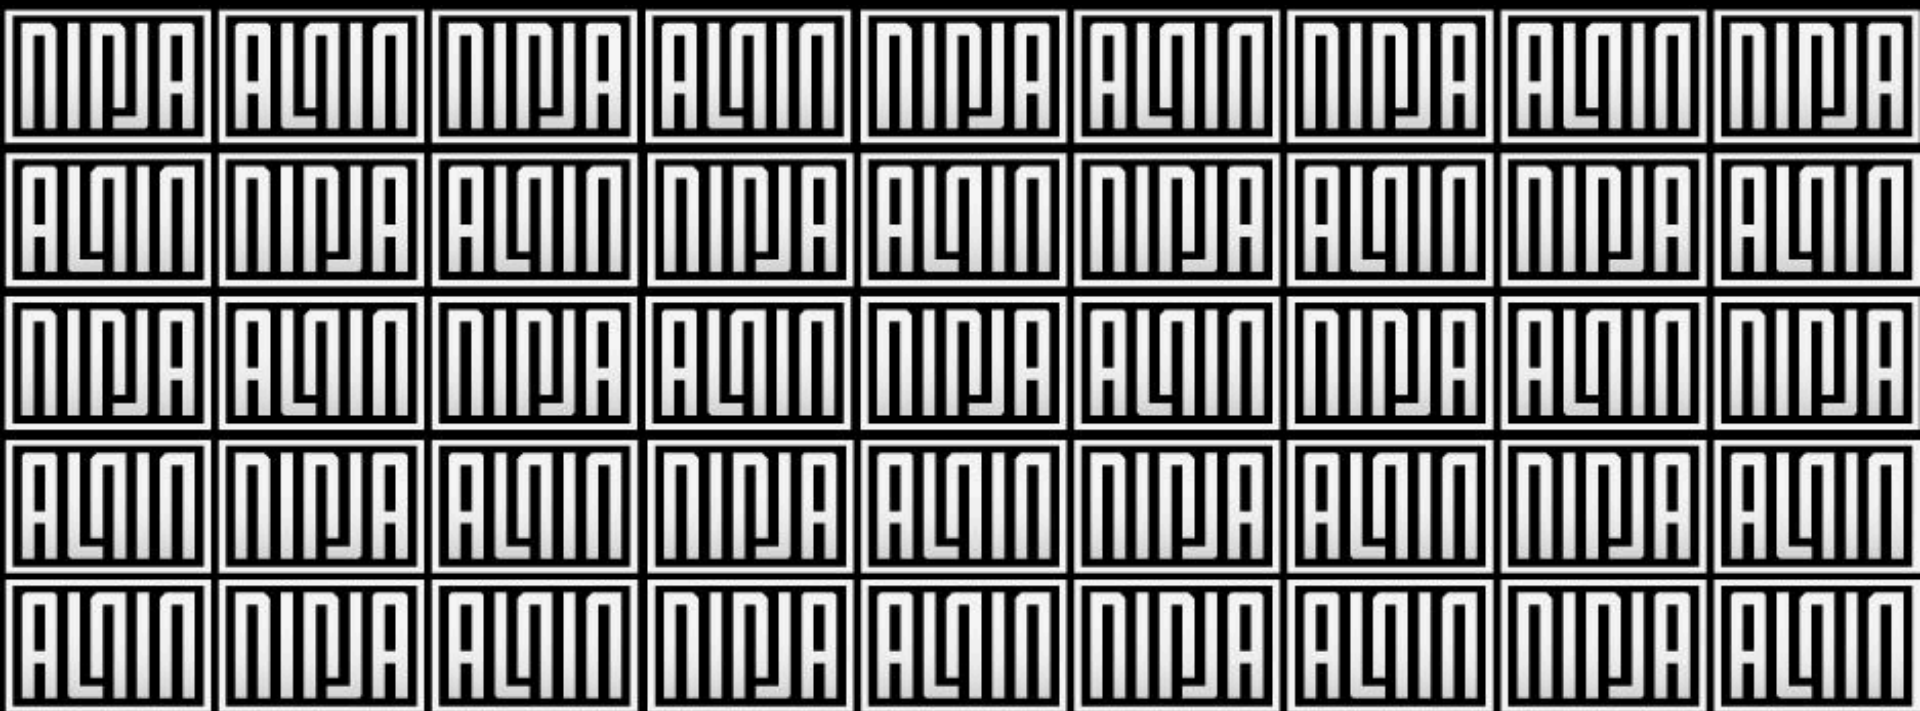

● police
● crowd

Brazil 2013
June Journeys

Mídia NINJA
Narrativas INdependentes, Jornalismo e Ação

Remy Buisine ✓
@RemyBuisine

Volg je nu

Suivez mon #Periscope  en DIRECT de Republique à #Paris pour #NuitDebout !

pscp.tv/w/ac_3fjg2MjI4 ...

#34Mars

 Vertalen uit het Frans

19:26 - 3 apr. 2016 vanuit Parijs, Frankrijk

122 retweets 88 vind-ik-leuks

Livestreaming dialectics

📅 December 19, 2014

Live Streamers Make Great Informants

Connect with WeCopwatch

These Streets Are Watching

“Good” Livestream Tactics

- Stand hundreds of feet away from the group so the low quality recording doesn't pick up conversations or peoples' identity.
- Don't film peoples' identity without their consent.
- Don't narrate intentions, tactics, locations, or destinations.
- Wear a bright shirt that says “Live Streamer” or “Informant.”

More “Real Good” Livestream Tactics

- Live Stream an event, panel, or discussion where all parties consent.
- Live Stream a demo or action where all parties involved consent.
- Live Stream your interactions when being stopped, questioned, or harassed by law enforcement. (maybe put your channel on private!)

Be safe out there, and make it safer for the masses by considering them when you point a camera at them.

censorship

privacy

storyteller

interaction

consent

police brutality

informants

Livestreaming

undercover police

ethics

alternative to mainstream media

social movements
amplifier

Livestreaming

past = investigation

present = detection/real-time intervention

future = deterrence

Questions :

- Should livestreaming be regulated?
- Should any citizen be allowed to livestream or should it be exclusive to credentialed journalists?
- Should citizens be always allowed to livestream police officers on duty?
- Will police officers act differently when knowing they can be filmed and streamed live?
- What if footage from police body cams was also livestreamed?
- What kind of events should be streamed live and which ones should not?
- Is the future of livestreaming more utopic or distopyc?